IMPROVEMENT OF
LOWELL PK. ROAD
GRADE CROSSINGRailroad And Civic Official Agree On Improvement Today

Mayor George C. Dixon and City Attorney M. J. Gannon were meeting today with County Superintendent of Highways, Fred Leake, chairman William F. Avery of the county Road and Bridge committee, Supervisor D. H. Spencer of Dixon township and Highway Commissioner James Penny with relation to the immediate improvement of the Lowell Park crossing over the Illinois Central tracks. A representative of the railroad met with the city, county and township officials this morning and went in a body to the site of the proposed improvement to make final plans for the improvement.

Dixon township will be obliged to finance 50 per cent of the cost of widening the crossing, it was stated and this was agreed to at the meeting before noon today. It was stated that at the present time the nine and one-half per cent grade would be reduced to five per cent under the plans. The planned crossing will also be widened about four feet. Increased right of way to the crossing on both sides of the track to provide for drainage will also be necessary and the township officials are planning to obtain the dirt necessary for the fill to reduce the grade from that immediate vicinity. At the meeting this morning Mayor or Dixon strongly urged the immediate completion of the improvement and all of those present were in accord with the Mayor's views. The expense to Dixon township was estimated at about $200 and it was expected that work would be started within a very short time.

SUBWAY AT HOSPITAL

An improvement at the Dixon State Hospital grounds requiring an expenditure of approximately $30,000 is to be started immediately and completed by October 1, providing a subway under the Illinois Central right of way. Engineers from the Illinois Central and the State Department of Public Works and Buildings are on the ground this afternoon making final arrangements for the work.

The entire cost of the improvement is handled by the state department of Public Works and Buildings, an appropriation having been made to cover the cost by the legislature through the activity of Mayor Dixon while he was a member of the legislative body.

The contract for the work has been let to the Illinois Central to build the structure. Approximately 5,000 yards of excavation will be necessary before the building of the subway can be started. It will also be necessary to make some changes in the switch tracks serving the institution, the railroad engineers stated.

The plans call for the construction of a reinforced concrete subway with a 24 foot driveway. The present grade of the railroad tracks will be altered somewhat, this work to be taken care of by local workmen. The railroad bridge-building equipment will be used in the construction of the subway, the work to be rushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

When completed the subway will open a portion of the state property which heretofore has not been developed largely because of the dangerous railroad crossing, where two workmen were killed two years ago when their automobile was struck by a south bound passenger train. At the present time the stock barns are maintained on the south side of the tracks where the state property extends to the banks of Rock River. The improvement is expected to furnish employment for several of Dixon's unemployed during the next 60 days.

Government Moves
To Put Fall In Jail

Washington, July 9—(UP)—Government counsel moved today in District of Columbia Supreme Court to commit former Secretary of Interior Fall to prison for his part in leasing of the Elk Hills naval oil reserves to E. L. Doheny, Los Angeles oil operator.

Frank J. Hogan, Fall's attorney, filed a motion to suspend sentence. The hearing was adjourned after argument by counsel pending submission of briefs. Atlee Pomeroy, special prosecutor, countered Hogan's insistence that the local climate would harm Fall with a suggestion that the sentence be served in an El Paso, Tex., jail with which the Federal Prison Board has a contract.

Hogan contended that the report of Army physicians was "sufficient" to demonstrate that the imprisonment of Fall, in his diseased condition, would be inhuman.

Hogan said the Army physicians reported that Fall was suffering from arteriosclerosis, myocardiitis, arthritis, tuberculosis and pleurisy.

SHORT BUSINESS CAREER

Three boys, two aged nine years and the other seven, launched out on an unsuccessful business venture yesterday afternoon which finally landed them in the police toils. The trio had made the rounds of the five and ten cent stores, appropriating such articles as suited their fancy until they had assembled quite a stock.

They then started a store of their own and the police were notified and investigated the stock of the trio of youthful business men. At the police station the trio related for their actions, returned the loot to the respective stores from which it was taken, promised not to start out on another similar venture and were released.

SEMI-ANNUAL TAX
COLLECTION LAW
MADE EFFECTIVEGov. Emmerson Signed
It And Anti-Truck
Measures Today

Springfield, Ill., July 9—(AP)—Anti-bus legislation, limiting the length of a single bus or truck to 35 feet, and the bill providing for semi-annual payment of taxes became law today.

The two bills, passed by the 57th General Assembly, were filed with the Secretary of State, bearing the signature of Governor Louis L. Emmerson.

Governor Emmerson signed the semi-annual tax payment bill, introduced by Senator Florence Pifer Bohrer, Republican, of Bloomington, despite the protests made by many county tax officials. They asserted that the cost of collecting taxes would be greatly increased. Proponents of the bill urged, however, that the measure would be a help to taxpayers.

The bus legislation limits the cross weight of the vehicles operated with one semi-trailer to 40,000 pounds. It provides the length of any single vehicle or combination shall not exceed 35 feet and the length of any vehicle with its trailer shall not exceed 65 feet until January 1, 1933, and 40 feet thereafter.

The bill also requires all trucks carrying freight to be equipped with pneumatic tires if operating at a speed over ten miles an hour after January 1, 1933. The bill reclassifies trucks and buses in connection with the cross weight fees.

Vetoed Money Bills.
The Chief Executive vetoed more appropriation bills. Today's disapprovals totaled $85,384.65, making the total of vetoed appropriations to date $1,999,848.85.

Last night he vetoed appropriation bills totaling $90,979.

"There is an urgent demand that state and municipal costs be kept at a minimum," Governor Emmerson said in reiterating his determination to eliminate all appropriations now essential.

Among the bills vetoed, with the Governor's explanation for killing them, were the following:

H. B. 778, McCartney—Appropriates $75,000 for the construction of a recreational hall and gymnasium at the Elgin state hospital.

Gov. Emmerson explained that an appropriation of $500,000 has already been approved for permanent improvements at the state charitable and penal institutions, and that the facilities needed at Elgin, to replace a building destroyed by fire, can be made out of this general appropriation.

H. B. 1225, Green—Appropriating $1,200 to Ed. and Martha Peterson for building, machinery and corn destroyed by fire, alleged started by members of the Illinois National Guard while in training at Camp Grant. This claim also was disallowed by the Court of Claims.

S. B. 270, Carlson—Provides that cashiers' checks and drafts drawn against a bank, prior to its failure shall be a preferred claim against the assets of such bank. Vetoed because the Attorney General held it unconstitutional in that it is class legislation.

The Governor also signed Senator Simon E. Lantz's bill making the owner of a dog liable for damages done by the dog.

Other bills signed by the Governor included:

H. B. 682, McSweeney—No swimming pools shall be constructed until plans have been approved by the Department of Public Health.

H. B. 734, Truitt—Provides for examination of licensing of insurance brokers.

H. B. 1168, Lyons—Creates World War veterans commission to determine number of persons entitled to compensation under the soldiers' bonus act who did not receive compensation.

Popular Teacher
Of Rochelle Dead

(Telegraph Special Service)
Rochelle, July 9—Miss Kalah Stegmeier, aged 22, daughter of John Stegmeier of 404 Cherry avenue and a commercial teacher in the Rochelle township high school, passed away at 3:30 o'clock this morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. Henry Spalding, in Chicago, where she had gone at the close of the school year to receive treatment for an infection with which she was stricken just prior to the close of school.

The body will be brought to Rochelle today, funeral arrangements to be announced later.

LEGION SEEKING FINANCIAL HELP
FOR BOYS' TEAMAbout $500 Needed to Pay Expenses Of
Dist. Champions

Solicitors representing the American Legion will be busy tomorrow in an effort to raise $500 for the financing of Dixon's championship boys' baseball team for the rest of the season. The cause is a very worthy one and should have generous support.

The Junior American Legion team is composed of boys all under 17 years. The Dixon team has won the championship in the 13th congressional district for two years and is contending for state and national honors. Their next game is at Rockford.

If they get into the downstate finals they will have to spend three days in Bloomington. Should they win there they will go to Comiskey Park, Chicago, for the state-wide finals as guests of the American and National Leagues, but all expenses up to that point must be paid by the Dixon Post of the American Legion, which has been under heavy expense maintaining the team up to this point.

The Legion sponsors these teams all over the nation and it is a splendid movement. The aim is the development of good sportsmanship among American boys. Last year there were 300,000 boys on these Junior American Legion teams.

No individuals will be asked to donate any great amount of money but it is hoped that a great many will give amounts of sufficient size to bring in the needed total. These boys are giving Dixon some good advertising. They should have good backing from our citizens.

The team will meet at the Independents' field at 6 o'clock this evening for practice.

Southeast Missouri
Scene Of Lion Hunt

New Madrid, Mo., July 9—(AP)—"Watch out for the lion," continues to be the watch word in southeast Missouri today as citizens in New Madrid county and vicinity proceeded with caution while hunt went on for a lion which escaped from a circus several days ago. The jungle king a veteran of many circus campaigns, continued to roam in woods, farmers finding signs of the animal where it killed small live stock and left portions of the carcasses. Several hunting parties reported they were unable to get near enough to the beast for effective shots.

The circus went on without the lion which escaped when a truck overturned, after efforts to capture the animal were unsuccessful.

SAY MUSSOLINI
WILL RENOUNCE
LATERN PLEDGERules Fascists Cannot Be Members Of Catholic Lay Assn.

Rome, July 9—(UP)—Premier Benito Mussolini ruled today that membership in both the Fascist party and in Azione Cattolica, the Catholic lay organization, are incompatible.

The ruling was regarded as the most drastic move yet taken in the controversy between the Vatican and Italy, and would compel Catholics to desert Azione if they desire to remain Fascists. At the same time it was said on high authority, that Mussolini was considering renouncing the concordat, or activating instrument of the Lateran treaty.

To "denounce" a treaty is to give notice of intention to withdraw from adherence to its provisions; in effect, to cancel.

In this instance, however, the Lateran treaty itself would not be abrogated, since there is both a concordat and a treaty. To denounce the concordat, a document making the treaty effective, would be to nullify the enforcement side of the treaty while still leaving the treaty itself untouched.

The concordat and financial convention were signed, together with the treaty by Cardinal Gasparri and Premier Mussolini at the Lateran Palace, February 11, 1929. The treaty was subsequently ratified by the Pope May 14, and by the Italian Parliament May 25, and signed by the King May 27. It became effective June 7 by an exchange of ratifications at the Vatican. It was designed to end the 60 years of dispute between the Vatican and Italy over the seizure of the Papal state in 1870 and reconstituted the Pope as a temporal sovereign in the tiny area of Vatican City.

"Siamese Twins"
Separated By An Operation In East

Baltimore, Md., July 9—(AP)—Baltimore's "Siamese" twins, severed by an operation called unparalleled in local medical history, were alive and apparently recovering today.

Physicians at Mercy Hospital, where the operation was performed yesterday, said the sisters, who weighed four and a half pounds each, had a good chance to pull through.

However, other operations are in prospect as they had only a single colon.

Dr. Klye W. Golley, Dr. Edward P. Smith and Dr. Daniel J. Pessagno, were in charge of the birth and the operation.

The babies were joined by a thick, fleshy ligament, said Dr. Golley. "It was necessary to operate to save the mother, so we cut the ligament."

"We found the babies had a colon in common, contained in the flesh which joined them. We called in Dr. Pessagno, a surgeon, and he continued the operation on the babies."

"It was necessary to remove all but an inch of colon from each, but it is possible to live without a colon."

Dr. Pessagno was forced to repair breaks in the abdominal walls, sewing parts of vital organs to the walls and replacing them in the abdomen.

"The other operations are less difficult than the first," he said.

A John Hopkins obstetrics authority, author of a text book, said that Siamese twins occur about once in 50,000 births. "In most cases an operation is impossible. When it is possible, and one is performed, the chances are 10 to 1 that the babies will die," he said.

STRANGER TOLD
BY COMPANIONSPolice Called To Pick
Up Chillicothe Man
South Of City

Little credence was given the story told by Louis Boylan, aged 46, of Chillicothe, Ill., who was picked up shortly after midnight south of the city on state highway route 2 by members of the police department, when he related it to Deputy Ward Miller and police officers this morning. After telling his yarn and answering questions, Boylan was shown the direction back to Chillicothe and started on his way.

Shortly after 12 o'clock the police were notified that a strange man was wandering about farm houses, claiming to have been thrown out of an automobile by three rough strangers with whom he was enroute to the Dakota wheat fields. The police took the stranger to the police station. Boylan told a story of meeting three strangers at Chillicothe yesterday, who invited him to accompany them to the Dakota wheat fields where they expected to obtain employment.

The quartet first purchased a lion of liquor and more embarked upon their venture. Boylan spending about eight dollars, his total funds to finance the trip and the refreshments. About two miles south of Dixon the car stopped, he said, and all took a drink from the jug. He was then informed that his companions were no longer desired and that the trio planned to continue to Dixon where they would, "pull a job" and then continue to Dakota.

Boylan wandered about until he located a farm house and had word telephoned to the police. He showed signs of having imbibed freely from the jug of wine, which he claimed to have obtained before leaving Chillicothe, and was advised to return home and in the future be more careful in the selection of his traveling companions.

KIDNAPED MAN'S
BROTHER-IN-LAW
DUPED BY 'PHONEHe Sent $200 To Get His Kin Home, But Latter Doesn't Come

Joliet, Ill., July 9—(AP)—Michael Korst, brother-in-law of John Kinsley, missing pool hall and soft drink parlor owner, expressed the belief today that he had been duped by a man who telephoned him from Springfield yesterday posing as Kinsley.

Korst said he sent $200 by telegraph on request of the man, who told him that he had been kidnapped and taken to Springfield where his abductors abandoned him, but he has received no further word.

A man who claimed he was George Smith, a Milwaukee roofer, but whom reporters said they recognized as Kinsley, boarded a midnight bus at Springfield for Joliet. Police here met the bus today but failed to find the man and Korst expressed doubt that he was Kinsley who disappeared early Monday morning.

Proceedings to foreclose a $2,200 mortgage on Kinsley's home were under way today in court. They were started by Hattie Wagner Crosby, a real estate dealer.

Springfield, Ill., July 9—(AP)—A man who told newspaper reporters he was John Kinsley, Joliet pool hall owner, left here at midnight last night after he said he was released by kidnappers.

He told a newspaperman he was kidnapped in Joliet Tuesday and was released unharmed here last night.

He refused to talk of the affair, expressing his regret as to his failure to tell a good story. He declined to discuss his whereabouts since Tuesday.

The man said he telegraphed Michael Korst, his brother-in-law, in Joliet at 9:30 P. M. last night for ten dollars.

After receiving the funds he wandered about the streets until the bus left. From his seat in the bus he replied with a knowing wink and grin when a reporter called "Goodbye Kinsley."

Pekin Barber Shop
Bombed And Burned

Pekin, Ill., July 9—(UP)—Labor difficulties were blamed for an explosion and fire which wrecked Frank Bethelberger's barber shop today with an estimated loss of $11,000.

An empty gasoline can was found under a charred barber chair after the fire had been extinguished. A gas pipe connection also had been loosened, investigators said. The shop burst into flames soon after the blast which shattered the windows.

Twice within two months a plate glass window of the shop was broken when a brick was hurled through it.

Bethelberger formerly belonged to the union. He was fined $50, however, for failure to close his shop on a holiday. When he refused to pay the fine he was ousted from the organization.

"I haven't the slightest idea why he left me the money," Boyle said. "I never did any favors for him."

New York, July 9—(UP)—Bribing a child to eat his spinach is an "immoral practice," in the opinion of Prof. William H. Kilpatrick of Columbia University, who believes the child should be taught understanding of and obedience to the act.

Madison, railroad section foreman, wired his office: "Have looked all over town and was unable to hire men anywhere. Everybody in town is employed. Kindly hire men elsewhere and send them to me at once."

Glendale, Cal., July 9—(UP)—Marie L. Barmore, 22, held some kind of a sleep-walking record today. In an hour of somnambulism she walked from her home here more than two miles into Burbank, before she was seen by Mrs. Carol Kates, who called police to awaken her.

Reformer Ordered
Back To Jail Today

Chicago, July 9—(UP)—The Rev. Philip Yarrow, crusader against obscene books, was ordered back to jail today when his plea for a writ of habeas corpus was denied by Judge Joseph Sabath in Criminal Court.

"The Criminal Court has no jurisdiction in this case," Judge Sabath ruled after hearing the Rev. Yarrow's side of the book purchase which led to a $5,000 damage judgment with a malice count under which he was jailed.

Judge Sabath suggested that the proper procedure was to take the plea to the Circuit Court, where Yarrow was committed to jail when he failed to pay Walter Shaver, bookseller, the $5,000 damages for malicious prosecution.

Hijacker's Body
Found In Buick

Gary, Ind., July 9—(UP)—The body of a man, found last night eight miles south of Hammond beaten and burned, was identified today as that of John Fundo, who died apparently fighting the Capone gang in the Chicago Heights beer war.

Fundo disappeared June 30 after he twice had been machine gunned and escaped uninjured. Fred Jung, farmer, found the body under some bushes. Fundo had been beaten in the face, the body soaked with oil and ignited.

Identification was made by Mike Fundo, his trousers, by a wrist watch and a sample of the cloth in John's trousers which matched a coat found in his home.

John Fundo was known to have been battling the Capone gang in Chicago Heights and police believe he had hijacked a load of beer and paid with his life.

UNABLE TO MAKE
REFUELING OVER
NOME THIS MORNDense Fog And Rain At Early Hour Ended
Big Adventure

BULLETIN.

Nome, Alaska, July 9—(UP)—The attempt of Reginald L. Robbins and Harold S. Jones to fly from Seattle to Tokio ended today when they were forced to land after circling Nome for hours in a futile attempt to make a refueling contact.

The Fort Worth landed at Solomon, 35 miles east of here at 3:50 A. M. (6:50 A. M. P. S. T.) after dense fog and rain made it impossible to refuel in the air.

The fliers had completed 1900 miles of their flight from Seattle to Tokio with almost clocklike precision when they hit rain and fog after they left Fairbanks early this morning.

The trim little yellow and white monoplane was circled from Solomon to Nome for nearly two hours, with the big tri-motor mother ship, piloted by Nick Greener and Jim Mattern hovering above them, before they finally admitted defeat and brought the ship to the ground. The refueling plane landed two minutes later.

Robbins and Jones crawled gloomily from the cabin after nearly 26 hours in the air. They were intensely disappointed that their flight which had gone so auspiciously should end before it was even half completed. The fog and the rain added to the gloom of the picture of failure which the fliers presented.

To Robbins it meant that his chance for the $25,000 prize offered by a Japanese newspaper for the first non-stop flight from Seattle to Tokio, was gone. To Jones it meant the end of a glorious adventure.

It was the rain and the fog and the unexpected chance which defeated the fliers, but as Jones expressed it as he stepped from the Fort Worth, if the flight hadn't ended here it probably would have ended soon anyway.

"We couldn't have gone for in this weather, anyway," Jones firmly remarked. "The breaks were against us—and just when we thought everything was going so smoothly too."

The fliers encountered their first difficulties they said, soon after they left Fairbanks and headed for Nome. Clouds which had been high permitting almost unlimited visibility, began closing down on them, and conditions became worse as they neared the coast.

They thought, however, that the fog would rise with the increasing brightness of the sun, and that they might continue their journey after filling their gasoline tanks for the hop across the Bering Sea.

Robbins and Jones had been confident from the start that they could make the flight, given an even break with the weather. Their failure to do so, however, was a hard blow. Dejected as they were when they climbed from the plane, Robbins' well known smile soon crept back to his face and he said: "We couldn't have gone far in this sure, we'll try again."

April Fool Joke Is Cited In Murder Case

Chicago, July 9—(AP)—An "April fool" joke of 1930 took a prominent place in defense testimony today in the murder trial of William Putschner.

Mary Del Pinto, 16, a junior high school girl, appeared as an alibi witness for Putschner, testifying that he was with her the day Mrs. Mildred Helmsing was strangled—April 1, 1930.

She remembered the date, the girl said, because her sister had fooled her.

"She told me there was a letter in the mail box for me," Miss Del Pinto testified. "I went to see and there wasn't one. My sister then said 'April fool'."

"Then we drove to my cousin's grandmother's home with Mr. Putschner and drove back to my home at 4:45 in the evening, in time for me to get my father's dinner."

Mrs. Helmsing's body was found by her husband when he returned from work in the evening. She had been strangled with a ribbon, supposedly during the afternoon.

Those seized today were James Nagle and William Dewar, caught in a south side apartment where police had been told the third party would be found.

The slain bandit, killed when he opened fire with a shot gun at two policemen who caught him and his companion robbing a cigar store, was identified as Orle Lahnum.

With the wounded bandit, James Clark, who was trailed to his home, police took into custody his wife. Clark was shot in the right leg.

The protest was contained in a formal note delivered to the State Department.

ITALY IN ACCORD WITH HOOVER ON LOW ARMAMENTS

Observers See Stimson Visit's Effects In Italian Support

BY ROBERT J. BENDER

United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1931, by United Press)

Rome, July 9—(UP)—Italy, it became known on high authority today, strongly favors a broad disarmament plan.

It is ready to cooperate with President Hoover's moves for arms reductions.

This information, extremely significant in the U. S. move to control the staggering costs of big armies and navies as an aid to world rehabilitation, coincided with nearly an hour's visit of U. S. Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson to Foreign Minister Dino Grandi at the Foreign Office.

Neither revealed the subject of their conference but it was assumed that the meeting marked the opening of a series of conferences between Stimson and European statesmen designated to align old world powers behind the President's moves.

Italy is advocating a broad disarmament plan, firstly because she feels Germany is almost eliminated from being able to pay reparations, and secondly, because European budgets are unable to bear the burdens of maintaining big arms establishments.

The major point to be advanced to Stimson in his conversations with Italian officials, who are seeking to terminate the mad race which they see as destroying the entire European economy, will be that disarmament will bring relief for the enormous post-war budgets. It is argued here that the average nation is spending one-fourth of its entire revenue on war preparation.

Germany Prostrate

Italy believes Germany is financially and economically prostrate and therefore it is almost futile to expect payment of reparations when the nation possesses nothing with which to pay.

It was pointed out that both big and little powers are suffering by wasting vast sums for military purposes, and Italy sees only economic suicide in the mad efforts which are one of the chief causes of European unrest.

Relief is sought because disarmament offers an opportunity to eliminate what are classed as unnecessary expenses in favor of public improvements, education, etc. The only thing that would mean economic progress without affecting any nation's administration, Italy believes, would be to relieve the military burden.

Italy, to promote a disarmament program, has proclaimed her readiness to accept any plan that would result in effective reduction. The latest scheme proposed would be on the basis of reduction of budgets—a plan which has not met with the favor of the United States in the past.

Relief hitherto had been sought in curtailing effectiveness of armies and air forces and reducing tonnages of naval forces, but the alternative proposal would hit at the source by reducing military budgets.

The difficulty seen in the budgetary limitation method would be that some nations might adjust their

DISBARMENT OF
NINE ATTORNEYS
IS RECOMMENDED

Another Chapter Of "Whoopee Memoirs" Written Today

Chicago, July 9—(UP)—Another chapter to the "whoopee memoirs" of the Sanitary District payroll scandal was written today in a 175,000 word report recommending disbarment of nine attorneys and suspension of 38 others.

The report was returned by Circuit Judge Thomas Taylor who spent months studying evidence of graft and irregularities in the Sanitary District under the administration of Timothy Crowe.

He recommended that the state Supreme Court take the action against the attorneys.

Charges against the lawyers were that they either received salaries for doing little or no work or that they knew of payroll padding and allowed it to go on without interference.

Investigators of the famous scandal declared that the lawyers were a group of gay "pay-rollers" who attended frequent parties at which champagne bought with the taxpayers' money was served. At one of the famous parties, it was reported, a piano was tossed out of a window.

Judge Taylor, who acted as a commissioner in the case, recommended that eleven of the attorneys be suspended for practice for two years and the 27 others for one year. Originally the charges involved 53 attorneys.

The nine lawyers recommended for disbarment were Frank J. Brewster, Jacob M. Lavanthal, George H. Mason, James C. O'Brien, Joseph Paulsen, Kleofas Jurgelonis, Stephen A. Malato, Harry Mantell and Adam E. Patterson.

Washington, July 9—(UP)—Acting Secretary of State Castle today announced the appointment of Hugh Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium, as the United States representative at the London meeting of fiscal experts to discuss means of putting the Hoover debt postponement plan into effect.

Gibson will be assisted by Frederick C. Livesay, Assistant Economic Adviser of the State Department as a technical expert. Livesay is considered an authority on international finance and on such financial conventions as the Young plan.

Castle explained the two might be considered as the United States "representatives" at the debt parity. He declined to call them "unofficial observers." Gibson and Livesay will have no votes, it will be present at all meetings of the committee. Their presence there will be considered a safeguard against departure from the spirit of the Hoover plan, which provided unqualified relief from debts during a year for all participating governments.

Discussing the present outlook for prompt effectiveness of Mr. Hoover's plan, Castle said that "undoubtedly" arrangements will be made so that Germany will not have to declare a moratorium on July 15, the day its next reparation payment is due.

How They Stand the Heat in Washington on Torrid Days

(By BESS FURMAN.)
Washington, July 9.—(AP)—The women who have the high-sounding titles are just like the rest of the world these days—trying to keep cool.

Weather warm enough to take all the strength out of anybody's station has swept across the city, revealing just how human they all are.

The old expression "sisters under the skin" is but a half-expression of the fellow-feeling current in the Capital wherever the electric fan whirs.

Staunch spirit of happiness—in spite of the heat, is Mrs. Herbert Hoover. Loosed from formal functions, she has been showing the city her sunniest self, appearing impromptu at many a gathering of the more spontaneous sort. She went to a Potomac Park polo game. She turned baseball fan. She paid a visit to the little John J. Davis children, James, Jane, Jean, Jewel and Joan, who were disappointed because she couldn't come to their house last winter because of a sudden quarantine. She drove her new automobile to places of her own choosing. Mrs. Hoover's recipe for meeting the heat appeared to be, "go right ahead and keep smiling."

"If it's going to be hot—just expect it," was the advice given by Mrs. Dolly Gann, sister to the Vice President. Mrs. Gann described how in her own commodious home, she has been comfortably playing hostess to the heat.

"I just take life easy" she said. "loafing along, reading, sitting on the porch, sleeping some afternoons. One doesn't mind hot weather if one expects it."

Buffet Is Ideal for Summer Meal

After an afternoon of bridge for the ladies, a nice way to entertain is to have the husbands drop in for supper. Now of course the hostess who must prepare and serve the entire meal and who wants her mind free for her guests will do well to plan a supper which may be prepared a head of time and the buffet supper meets every requirement for the attractive, festive meal with little last minute effort on the part of the housewife.

Of course, the table is set with all the necessary equipment conveniently arranged for self-service and of course all the food is placed upon the table before the guests assemble.

A large platter with individual salads arranged on it is both attractive and easy to "get at." This salad may be the main dish or it may be an accompaniment. If it is the latter, a fruit or vegetable salad is best, but if it is to be the center of buffet menu, a meat salad will be best.

For either a fruit or a vegetable salad platter, the fruits or vegetables or both should be the fresh in season ones. Chilled melon balls are not used in salad nearly so often as they could be.

A delightfully cool and appetizing main dish may be made by arranging thinly sliced cold meats in the center of a large platter and then placing lettuce cups filled with melon balls around the edge. It is prettier if different kinds of melons with their different colors are used. A little lemon or lime juice squeezed over the melons adds a zesty tang.

The department of home economics, National Live Stock and Meat Board, offers the suggestion that many meat markets sell an assortment of ready-to-serve meats which are very delicious. Some markets make a feature of arranging several different kinds of these on a thin parchment paper-covered board. If one wishes, this may be placed right on the platter and garnish with celery curls, radish roses, and black and green olives.

Little sandwiches of plain bread and butter or with a savory filling or rolls which may be reheated, pickles and other relishes served in those smart looking relish dishes with the divisions, pitcher of iced beverage, so cold that the glasses are still frosty, cake and a dainty dessert will complete this buffet supper.

Don't Rasp Your Throat With Harsh Irritants

"Reach for a LUCKY instead"

What effect have harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos upon the throat? A famous authority, retained by us to study throat irritation, says:

"The tissues above and below the vocal chords and the vocal chords themselves may become acutely or chronically congested as a result of the inhalation of irritating fumes in the case of chemists for example."

LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process, which includes the use of modern Ultra Violet Rays, expels certain harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. So "Consider your Adam's Apple"—that is your larynx—your voice box—it contains your vocal chords. Don't rasp your throat with harsh irritants. Be careful in your choice of cigarettes. ### ERADICATING CRIME.

Attorney General Mitchell's explanation that the federal government hopes, by its own example in the Capone case, to encourage local authorities to go after big city gangsters, is extremely sensible.

"Many communities," remarks the attorney general, "have got into the habit of thinking that these gangs are a necessary evil. Police are in on every bit of what is going on, and they are much better equipped to act than we are. If public sentiment only insisted on it they would act. But you know why they don't as well as I do. Where there's a will there's a way."

This is the sort of thing that needs to be said over and over again.

Whenever commercialized crime becomes rampant in any city, with gang murders, street shootings and the other familiar accompaniments, it is a perfectly safe bet that the police force as a whole is not nearly as helpless as it may appear to be.

As Mr. Mitchell says, where there's a will there's a way. Good detectives can always get the goods on gangsters if they really try to. The federal men who got the goods on Al Capone in such a thorough manner have proved that beyond dispute. The job isn't impossible. Determination and intelligence will accomplish it, every time.

The whole trouble, in late years, has been the fact that the will has been lacking. Detroit, Chicago, New York and similar cities have been ridden by insolent gangsters because political pull and outright corruption have kept the police from doing the jobs for which the public hired them.

Before the gangs can be driven to cover there must be a wide public realization of that fact. If the federal government's action against Capone makes Americans understand this, and leads them to demand real service from their city governments, organized crime will lose nearly all of its present power.

ORGANIZING THE COAL INDUSTRY.

Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania, former secretary of labor, believes that the soft coal industry cannot regain its health until consolidation on a large scale has transformed the present host of small, weak companies into a few large and strong ones.

Probably there will be few to disagree with him. The soft coal industry has been in a demoralized state for years. Stockholders lack dividends, miners go underpaid and suffer long lapses in employment, and the comparatively low price at which coal, in consequence, retails does not do the general public enough good to compensate for these distressing phenomena.

As the senator points out, the steel industry was in the same fix until a series of consolidations stabilized it and made it enormously prosperous. Something of the kind seems to be in order for the soft coal industry as well. It will be interesting to see the plan which Senator Davis is now devising to meet the difficulty.

DIPLOMACY BY TELEPHONE.

One of the most interesting things about the recent reparations-war debts moratorium negotiations is that they were conducted largely by trans-Atlantic telephone. For the first time in history, statesmen have talked back and forth across the ocean instead of confining their interchange of thoughts to courier or cable transmission.

The enormous advantage that this gives to the modern diplomat is obvious. Five minutes actual conversation can adjust two conflicting points of view better than a whole sheaf of cablegrams. It is hardly straining the imagination to look forward to the day when heads of governments will talk with one another directly, without the use of any intermediaries at all. When they do, international understandings should benefit immeasurably.

Wee Clowny landed safe and sound upon the ship and there he found the captain waiting for him, with a frown upon his face. "How come you board my ship this way?" the captain said. "You cannot stay unless you have a ticket. To the dock you'd better chase." "Oh, no," said Clowny. "I'm all right. You see, I'm Clowny Tynmite and just to thrill the others I rode on a load of freight. The others soon will be aboard." Just then the ship's big whistle roared. "Oh, my," continued Clowny. "I just hope they are not late."

Of course his frightened hope came true. The next thing that the youngster knew, the Travel Man cried out, "Hey, there! You'd better come with us. The other Tynites are up front. You surely pulled a foolish stunt. If I weren't here to save you, it would start an awful fuss."

Then to the Captain Clowny was presented. He was glad because the captain turned quite friendly and exclaimed, "You're welcome, lad. I'll have to meet the others, too. Then I'll do all I can for you to see that you enjoy this trip." "Course this made Clowny glad. And then the ship sailed out to sea. It was as thrilling as could be. For long, long hours they traveled on. They were Australia bound. At last, when they arrived in port, they all looked forward to real sport. "Where will we go first?" Clowny asked. "Where can a beach be found?"

"I'd like to swim 'cause it is hot. Please lead me to a bathing spot." "All right," replied the Travel Man. "We'll find one right away." They jumped into an auto and were shortly playing on the sand. "Oh, gee," said Clowny, "this sure is a dandy place to stay."

(The Tynmites have more fun on the beach in the next story.)

TARDIEU'S SPEECH

On July 9, 1917, Andre Tardieu, the then French high commissioner to the United States, gave a speech before the Franco-American Society in New York in which he outlined a plan for control of supplies in the war. He said in part:

"The great duty of the United States at the present moment is to put on the same footing all those who are fighting for the same cause. Since you have been in this war you have been best with requests by each of the powers of the Entente. You gave them a generous answer, but you are beginning to realize that if your assistance should be indefinitely solicited in the same manner your immense resources would not be sufficient to comply with requests when ill-regulated."

To prevent the occurrence of such a situation Tardieu proposed the creation in Europe, as near the front as possible, of an inter-allied committee to centralize all demands, study and control them, and to submit them to the United States on behalf of all the Allies, grouped according to their urgency in relation to military operations.

That advertising has proved its worth; study what it has done for those who have enlisted its aid; see the progress they have made.

The business concerns who have met the greatest success are those who are continuous advertisers. Their advertising has made it possible for them to increase business to such an extent that they should adopt a policy of continuous improvement and expansion.

Continuous advertising brings volume, which makes it possible to produce better products to sell at better prices.

Continuous advertising makes many sales grow where only one grew before. It is the only way to put a business on a year round paying basis.

People have been educated through experience to the fact that only quality can stand continuous advertising.

Advertising through the printed page carries its appeal into every home in a way that brings satisfactory results.

Well advertised products are in demand everywhere, because nowadays everybody reads the advertisements.

ments. Our school children, for example, suffer more from decayed teeth and bad mouth conditions than from any other group of ailments. For centuries science has proposed numerous theories to explain the prevalence of dental disease. Most of these theories have not stood up under careful scientific scrutiny.

In recent years, however, a number of research workers have brought forth evidence to show that the health of the teeth largely depends upon diet and that in the diet it is the vitamins and mineral salts that are of importance.

They have demonstrated that the lack of vitamin A and D will result in a variety of disease conditions affecting the mouth.

In experiments with dogs they have demonstrated the vital importance of diet in the early months of life, for, if a puppy's diet has been deficient in the two vitamins, the dog may develop a periodontal (around a tooth) disease later, however perfect his adult diet, while the badly fed dog is partly or wholly supply of the vitamins in his puppy days.

Because these experiments have been conducted on different animals with a wide variety of teeth, it appears more than probable that the results are as applicable to human beings as they are to animals.

Furthermore, a diet rich in vitamins and in mineral salts will in addition promote normal growth and development, and serve as a protection against the so-called deficiency diseases.

WOLF LARSEN OF VARIED CAREER DIED IN MISSION

Two Years In Jails And Breadlines Ended
For Battler

New York, July 9.—(UP)—Magnus "Wolf" Larsen, 30, one time opponent of Gene Tunney, winner over Battling Siki and once an amateur light heavyweight champion of America, is dead after two years of life in jails, breadlines, missions and hospitals.

"A fine man when he was right," John Olsen of the Bethesda Mission said. "Cook night watchman, carpenter and handy man he was for four months until last New Year's Eve when he went off again. I saw a fellow he hit the night before he went to the hospital and the fellow was still bent over a cripple."

That was the Wolf Larsen of the New York water fronts.

"He won many a decision, but more of them were against cops than against prize fighters," Tom O'Rourke and Jim Buckley, who once managed the Wolf, recalled.

"When his freight schooner had touched Holland back in 1919 he already had a reputation aboard the ship. He was matched with the Senegalese, Battling Siki, and won the decision in 10 rounds."

"Then he came to New York. He studied reading, writing and arithmetic, as if they'd help him along in the world, and became amateur champion of his class in America."

"He got by on the 'rep' he made in his fight with Siki—no one realized that both he and Siki were to end their lives in the gutter."

"And then Wolf got ambitious. He wanted excitement. He got it. He fought Tunney in 1922 and the fight was stopped with Wolf out to ribbons."

From then on the Wolf's life was one of enjoyment.

He fought as a second rater, he spent his purses as soon as he won them, in the ports of Buffalo, Detroit, the Soo, Duluth, Milwaukee, and Chicago, as he touched them when he shipped in the summer time as a Great Lakes seaman.

Five years ago he had become a punching bag—bloated face, cauliflower ears.

He became the playboy of the Red Hook section of Brooklyn—a man of 40 in appearance.

His pranks became legend among the youngsters of the district.

Once he stole a horse and wagon, drove them to the pawnbroker's office and tried to cash in on them. Once he tried the same stunt with a bicycle and again he straddled a fish peddler's pony in the Italian market.

The pony wouldn't budge. Wolf picked it up and carried it under his arm. "I thought he was a calf," Wolf told the police.

In 1929 he watched two fellows attempt to break into a speakeasy, and was sympathetic, so he tried to help them. He was slashed from ear to mouth, but in two weeks was about again.

He was offered $75 for a fight in New England, accepted, and when he thought the referee tried to trip him, he floored the referee and fled the town with a thousand fans at his heels.

One time he knocked a Dane through the wooden walls of the Columbia Avenue subway station.

CARNERA TO BE NEXT OPPONENT FOR SCHMELING

Champion Will Defend
His Title Sometime
During The Fall

New York, July 9.—(AP)—Primo Carnera, the vast Italian, has been chosen to meet Max Schmeling sometime this year, somewhere in America, in the German's next defense of his heavyweight championship.

Everything was settled at a meeting here yesterday. That is, everything except the time and the place. Manager Joe Jacobs speaking for the champion, agreed to send Max against Carnera wherever and whenever the Madison Square Garden Corporation of Illinois chooses, just so the bout goes 15 rounds. He was insistent upon that.

William V. Saxe, who represented the Garden at the big conference, announced the fight would be held sometime this fall, at a site to be selected. Prospects are that the bout will be held either at Jersey City or Philadelphia, with Cleveland an outside possibility.

New York State definitely is out, as Schmeling is under suspension by the New York Athletic Commission for his failure to give Jack Sharkey a return match. The commission has given no indication it intends to reinstate the champion just because he knocked out Young Stribling at Cleveland last week.

Carnera was represented by his manager, Leon See, who insisted the bout should be staged September 17.

He broke three ribs for another fellow in a single blow. And after walloping six assailants, he somersaulted their sedan just for good measure.

But last fall, he joined the Mission, and Tuesday he died, "punch drunk."

Large numbers of fish are reported dying in Kansas streams as a result of the dry weather and lack of food.

GERMANY SEEKING LOAN TO RESTORE FINANCIAL STATUS

Two Billion Marks Is Asked On Strength Of
"Credit Front"

Berlin, July 9.—(AP)—Germany is reported to be seeking an international loan of two billion marks on the strength of her nationwide "credit front" to restore confidence in her financial status.

Financial circles believed today that Hans Luther, President of the Reichsbank would go to London shortly to arrange details, although this was neither confirmed or denied officially.

He emphasized in a meeting with the press that the scope of Germany's credit was not limited by the 500,000,000 mark guarantee underwritten by a thousand of the Reich's strongest firms.

"The 500,000,000 has the same relation to the syndicate's effectiveness," he said, "as an ordinary bank's capital stock has to its capacity for extending credit."

The members of the syndicate represent assets exceeding 20,000,000,000 marks.

The operation of the syndicate's guarantee is described in a government decree. At the end of each semester the Gold Discount Bank will notify the governing board of any credit losses to be made good. Each of the members will then have to contribute in proportion to the responsibility assumed.

GERMAN GIVES PLEDGE
Paris, July 9.—(AP)—France had

Germany's pledge today that the savings realized from the Hoover moratorium would not be utilized to build armaments.

Ambassador Von Hoesch handed to Premier Laval the text of Chancellor Bruening's recent statement to the United States to the effect that Germany would use the benefits of the holiday to reconstruct her economic life.

The Premier issued a communique saying Germany had acted on her own initiative in the manner and had "expressed her happiness over the conclusion of the Franco-American agreement."

Preparations for the visit of Secretary of State Stimson on July 15 are under way. Arrangements have been made for a luncheon at the Foreign Office to be attended by members of the cabinet and a dinner at the American Embassy.

Armament is expected to be the chief topic of conversation between Mr. Stimson and officialdom.

The cabinet will meet tomorrow to select the French delegates to the meeting of fiscal experts on the moratorium in London on July 17.

The press attaches great importance to Mr. Stimson's presence in Europe, contending that it foreshadows a wholesale revision of armaments to complete the work of the moratorium in stabilizing world economics.

The blow that brought back recollection of Sherrill's earlier life failed, however, to solve the mystery of how and why he disappeared from a Montana farm in 1912, appearing later in Woodland, Calif., under the name of John Clark.

That 19 years of Sherrill's life, including his marriage eight years ago, remained an enigma to him.

No trace ever was found of Sherrill after he disappeared from the

The message today from his father, said that five weeks ago Sherrill was struck over the head and robbed by a vagrant who had asked for a ride in his automobile.

The blow and his subsequent aimless wandering, near death from starvation near Oakland Calif., are believed responsible for the recovery of his memory. At first he was unable to recall his 19 years of life under the name of Clark.

Investigation revealed a sleepy, 18-year-old youth who, when pulled out, explained he had spent several nights there, for lack of any other place.

PLANS FOR BOY SLAYER'S TRIAL CREATE ALARM

Criminologists Are Worried Over Descending Age Of Criminals

Chicago, July 9.—(UP)—The indictment and assignment to trial in the criminal court of Varney Corry, 15, on a charge of murdering Policeman Edward Smith, who ordered him from a high school swimming pool, has created alarm among sociologists and criminologists over what they term "the slowly descending age of criminal offenders."

At the same time they are sponsoring a movement for a study and a restatement of the purpose and function of the Juvenile Court of Cook county, the oldest juvenile court in existence.

Workers Interested
Among social workers who believe the Corry boy should not be tried in the criminal court are: Jane Addams of Hull House; Joel Hunter of the United Charities; Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, president, and Miss Jessie Binford, director, of the Juvenile Protective Association; Dr. Harry R. Hoffman, chief of the behavior clinic of the criminal court; Prof. Edward H. Sutherland of the Department of Sociology at the University of Chicago; Professor Clifford R. Shaw, research sociologist and head of the Department of Research Sociology of the Institute for Juvenile Research.

Attorneys said that because the boy was indicted by the grand jury, the chief justice of the criminal court had no choice but to assign the case for trial to a criminal court judge.

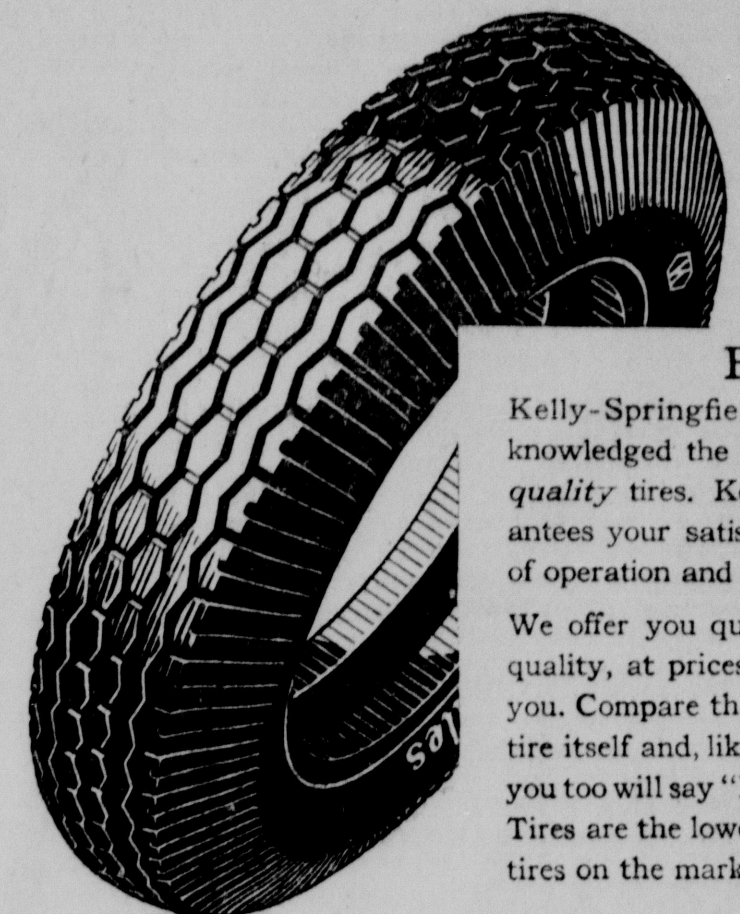

Nolle Prose Necessary
In order to have the case transferred to the Juvenile Court, legal authorities said, it would be necessary first to have it nolle prossed by the state's attorney and then to file a petition in the Juvenile court to the effect that the Corry boy is a delinquent.

Miss Addams declared the procedure wrong.

"I would not minimize the gravity of his killing," she said, "but the very fact that he did so and carried a gun showed that there was something stupid in it and points the way to the court in which the case should be handled."

TWO GROUPS OF LAWYERS FIGHT TO SAVE NEGROES

Eight Colored Men Under Sentence Of Death Get Legal Help

By FOSTER EATON
United Press Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1931, by United Press)
Atlanta, July 8.—(UP)—Two rival groups of attorneys, working without collaboration and perfecting appeals to the Alabama supreme court for eight negroes sentenced to die July 10 for allegedly assaulting two white girls on a moving freight train near Huntsville, Ala., March 25.

Refusal of the two groups to collaborate, the United Press learned today, is based on the belief of one group that the other has abortively injected into the case the element of "class struggle" in an effort to make it appear another "Sacco-Vanzetti" affair.

Dr. Will W. Alexander, executive director of the inter-racial commission, Atlanta, which has interested itself in the case in an effort to untangle the legal snarl, told the United Press in an interview "the case is complicated by outside agencies interested in class propaganda."

The National Association for the advancement of colored people, which works in harmony with the inter-racial commission, has approached Roderick Beddow, Birmingham criminal lawyer, to handle the forthcoming appeal.

The international labor defense, described by the inter-racial commission as "communist," has retained George Chamlee, Chattanooga Attorney, to make the appeal.

"Under no circumstances will I cooperate with Chamlee," Beddow told the United Press by telephone from his home at Birmingham.

Yet both are working toward the same end, in the belief that justice was done April 6 when a Madison county circuit court jury at Scottsboro, Ala., convicted the negroes on the testimony of the two girls, and of Orvil Gilley, a white boy.

Gilley, according to the testimony, was one of seven white boys who were riding in the freight cars with white girls when a gang of 12 negroes came piling down from an adjoining box car roof and engaged in a free-for-all fight. He was knocked out, he said, and was the only white boy not thrown off the train.

Those who were pitched off ran to a telegraph station and flashed word ahead of what was transpiring. A farmer who testified he saw the train pass said he saw on a nearby hay loft and "saw plenty." Nine negroes, the two girls and Gilley were taken off the train by an armed posse some 30 miles from the point where the white boys were routed.

At the trial 10,000 persons flocked into Scottsboro. National guardsmen were in command. Judge A. E. Hawkins of the Alabama circuit presided. Solicitor H. C. Bailey prosecuted; Steven Roddy of Chattanooga appeared for the defense, but turned over the actual conduct of the case of Milo Moody, Scottsboro, attorney appointed by the court.

POLITICAL SELF AGGRANDIZEMENT HIT IN NEW LAW

The Ambitions Of Smaller Groups Dampened By New Legislation

Springfield, Ill., July 9.—(UP)—Political self aggrandizement and ambitions of small political groups are hit in measures recently enacted into law by the Illinois state legislature.

The measures are those seeking to establish the so-called "short ballot" and speed up voting in populous centers by grouping candidacies other than those sponsored by the major parties in one column according to offices.

The proposals, sponsored by Representative Frederick W. Rennie, Republican, Buda, chairman of the House Election Committee, containing two important features. One is a mandate that all independent candidacies shall be grouped in one column. The other makes it more difficult for small groups to form themselves into a party and demand a whole column to themselves on the official ballot.

Supporters of the proposals urged their passage on the ground that it would serve to restrain candidates who run for office for the advertisement it gives them.

Under the new law a political party to have a major ranking, entitled to a separate column on the ballot, must poll five per cent of the votes polled for governor at the last election. That requirement is equivalent to upward of 150,000 votes and can be met next year only by the Democratic and Republican parties.

All other candidates who want their names on the official ballots must be combined in a single column, under the new law, unless they can meet the new qualifications for a separate "party."

To be entitled to a separate column on the ballot the new law provides that the organizers must file a complete list of candidates for all offices to be filed at the election. They must also file a sworn and genuine petition nominating those candidates and containing not less than 25,000 voters in the state, or 5 per cent of the total vote cast at the election in a county or other smaller division.

This would mean that in order to get a county ticket filed and given a separate column on the ballot at the 1932 election organizers of a so-called "party" will have to file a petition containing more than 54,000 bona fide signers.

The new law specifically forbids nomination of "party" candidates by caucuses. Under the present law a small group can caucus and proceed to organize themselves into a "party" and then nominate candidates for office and secure a column on the ballot without the trouble to get any nominating petitions signed by voters.

Another measure puts all statewide propositions, now printed on a separate ballot, on the candidates' ballot right below any constitutional amendment which is entitled to appear at the top of the first column. This bill would make one less ballot for the voters to bother with.

AIRWAYS

By VIRGIL PINKLEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

London, —(UP)— British aviation officials are opposed to any postponement of the Schneider Trophy race. It has been learned from authoritative sources:

It is believed that the official attitude with reference to the race scheduled to take place in September, in the Solent, is:

FIRST— Italy has not definitely announced her withdrawal, nor has France, so there is no definite reason to believe that Britain will win the coveted air trophy by default, for her third consecutive victory.

SECOND— Italy and France have had as much time in which to prepare for the race as Britain.

THIRD— Although the United States once postponed the race a year due to lack of foreign competition, there is no reason why Britain should do likewise, especially in view of the well-organized air forces of France and Italy.

FOURTH— Should Britain receive a walk-over, the two new Supermarine planes equipped with secret Rolls-Royce engines and one steady, slow hydroplane in regular Air Force duty will simply fly over the course.

FIFTH— The new planes, now under construction, will be used in attempts to establish new speed records. It is believed that on a straight course the machines will reach, or exceed, 400 miles per hour. Britain won the trophy in 1927 at Venice, when Flight Lieutenant

S. N. Webster piloted a Supermarine Napier 85 monoplane at a speed of 231.54 miles per hour. In 1929 the late Flight Lieutenant H. R. D. Waghorn won for Britain at Cowes, with a speed of 328.63 miles per hour. At that time Waghorn held the commission of flying officer.

Directors of London's air defense are pleased with the repeatedly fine showings of single-seater interceptor fighters designed to carry the burden of protecting Britain's capital.

Three "Fury" single-seater fighters recently flew from their home station at Tangmere, Sussex, to Hendon airbase, 70 miles, in 17 minutes. A strong cross-wind blew over the course, but despite this, the average speed was about 240 miles an hour.

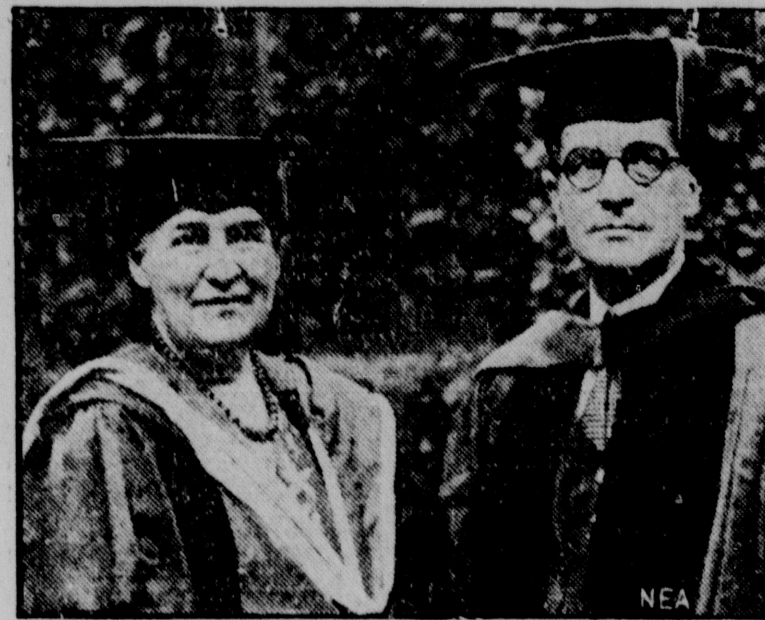

During a test just completed a "Fury" squadron climbed to more than 3,000 feet in 90 seconds. The same machines reached a height of 20,000 feet in nine minutes while still maintaining a forward speed of 150 miles an hour.

Limousine air travel for four people can now be secured for 12 cents a mile. The special charter department of Imperial Airways has also made it possible for a party of a dozen, hiring one of the 12 seater airliners, to take a pleasure trip at a cost per passenger of not more than 10 cents a mile.

Large "Silver Wing" aircraft, accommodating 20 passengers, can be chartered for aerial tours at rates which work out at nine cents per traveler per mile.

Baseball Gossip

By GAYLE TALBOT, Jr.

Associated Press Sports Writer
Once again the Washington Senators have fired and fallen back, leaving the Athletics to sail serenely along toward their third straight title.

By turning back their most persistent rivals again yesterday, 6 to 3, the Mackmen made it two out of three for the series and extended their lead to six and a half games over the American League field. The prospect they will be overtaken now appears remote.

Connie Mack called on his great left-hander, Robert Moses Grove, to take the deciding game of the series and the slim pitcher responded nobly to score his seventeenth victory of the campaign. The Senators peeked away at him for 11 hits, as many as the champions could get off four Washington pitchers, but they were helpless in the pinches. Twelve Senators were left on base.

The issue was settled to all intents and purposes in the first inning when the A's hopped on Lloyd Brown for four runs. A triple by Al Simmons and a home run by Jimmy Foxx doing the principal damage.

Meanwhile the New York Yankees with whom the Athletics opened a three-game series at Yankee Stadium today, were mowing down the Boston Red Sox in a double-header, 13 to 3 and 9 to 4, to climb within four and a half games of second place. Big Jim Weaver made his first start of the year in the first game and limited the Sox to nine hits, while Herb Pennock routed them in the second. Babe Ruth, enjoyed a big day with his twenty-first home run and three singles.

The Cleveland Indians went eleven innings to defeat the Chicago White Sox in their opener, 10 to 6. In addition to doing a fine job of relief pitching the last five innings Willis Hudlin helped win his own game with a single that scored the first of five runs in the eleventh.

Lyn Storti and George Burns two members of the St. Louis Browns "pony" infield starred as the Browns broke a three-game losing streak with a 7 to 1 triumph over Detroit. Burns had three singles and Storti a triple and double. Blueholder kept nine Tiger hits well spaced.

The National League race tightened as the New York Giants dropped a hard fought decision to the Phillies, 5 to 4. The Brooklyn Robins held idle by rain at Boston, went into a virtual tie with the McGrawmen for second place, three percentage points back.

An error by Bill Terry enabled the Phillies to score the winning run in the ninth and broke up a hurling duel between Frank Watt, big Phil rookie and Fred Fitzsimmons. It gave Watt his fourth straight victory.

Heine Meine, Pittsburgh southpaw, stopped the onrushing Chicago Cubs in their tracks when he held them to six hits and beat them 5 to 2. Meine had a shutout until two were out in the ninth when hits by Hemsley and Grimm scored a pair of runs. The Pirates scored all their runs in the first two innings.

For the third straight day, the Cincinnati Reds were not scheduled.

the second half of the season with a margin of six and a half games in first place.

Connie Mack used the third member of his big-three pitching staff, Bob Grove, to capture the deciding game, 6 to 3. Grove was in trouble in eight of the nine innings played but he took command to work himself out in all except the sixth when Washington combined two hits with two walks for its three runs.

It was Grove's seventeenth victory of the season and Foxx's sixteenth home run in the first inning gave him the game. George Earnshaw pitched two of the games, losing Sunday and winning yesterday. Walberg, the other member of the Philadelphia pitching staff, pitched the scoreless tie on Monday.

Philadelphia has won seven of the eleven games played by the two teams and eleven more are to be played.

WANERS GOING STRONG

Pittsburgh, July 9 (AP)—With all this depression talk, the firm of Waner & Waner, manufacturers of safe hits and brilliant fielding, reports its business booming as usual.

Lloyd smacked out two hits against the Cubs yesterday and while there's no news in that, his second safety run up the 2,000th hit he and his brother Paul have delivered since Waner became such an important part in Pittsburgh's baseball business.

Paul Waner came to the Bucs in 1926. Lloyd "practiced" with the Pirate squad in the spring training of the following year and was so good they had to buy him a uniform. Including the figures of yesterday's game, the Waners together have stepped to the plate 5,783 times and have scored 1,107 runs, in addition to their 2,000 hits. That makes a grand average of 349.

Paul retains the lead over his younger brother, with a major percentage of .353, with 1,132 hits out of 3,209 times at bat. Lloyd's mark is just 10 points smaller, with 2,529 times at bat and 868 hits. Lloyd has played in 592 games Paul has been in 817.

ABANDONS NIGHT GAMES

Oklahoma City, July 9 (AP)—Jack Holland, owner of the Oklahoma City Western League club, has decided that night air and flood lights retard the development of young baseball players.

He announced yesterday his team will go on a daylight schedule July 19 with the exception of "ladies night" games each Monday and Friday which will not be abandoned because of their popularity.

"The majors are becoming harder to convince of a player's worth as judged by averages compiled by day-night baseball," Holland said.

"The night game holds back the development of young players for the ball is harder to see, both at bat and in the field. The night air is none too good for the players.

"The novelty of night baseball is wearing off to the extent that it does not pay to develop players on only a night baseball diet."

SPORT BRIEFS

Chicago, July 9 (UP)—Top flight, owned by C. V. Whitney, was recognized today as one of the leading 2-year-olds of the season as a result of yesterday's victory in the Lassie Stakes at Arlington Park.

Finishing five lengths in front of Hal Price Headley's Modern Queen, Top Flight ran the 5 1-2 furlong race in 1:05 1-5, a fifth of a second slower than the track record. A field of 15 2-year-old fillies went to the post. The gross value was $23,200 and the winner's share $19,125.

Reno, Nev., July 9 (UP)—Max Baer, young California heavyweight boxer and his bride, the former Dorothy Danbar Wells De Garcon, were honeymooning today after their wedding last night at which Jack Dempsey served as best man.

Forty prominent residents attended the ceremony at the home of Harry Scheeline, local banker. Later the couple slipped away for a trip to the Pacific coast.

William Woodburn, Reno attorney who has secured two divorces for Mrs. Baer, gave the bride away. Judge Bartlett, who granted both the decrees, was an interested spectator.

Baer and his manager, J. Hamilton Lorimer, planned today to apply to the California Athletic Commission for the fighter's reinstatement there. Baer has been barred from California since last August, when Frankie Campbell of San Francisco died after a bout with the Livermore "butcher boy."

New York, July 9 (AP)—Big Bill Tilden had to turn professional to realize one of his fondest tennis dreams. It happened in the course of Bill's match against the veteran James Burns yesterday at Forest Hills.

Burns, attempting to retain one of Tilden's drives, lashed out wildly and the flying sphere struck the umpire, Ben Dwight, squarely in the chest. It almost toppled the arbiter from his perch. Tilden was impressed.

"That was great," he said. "I've been trying to do that to umpires for ten years."

Chicago, July 9 (UP)—George O'Connell of Chicago, defending men's singles champion, faced his first real threat in the Illinois state tennis championships today. He was opposed in the quarter final round by Karl Kamrath, tall Texan.

O'Connell yesterday won his fourth round from S. F. Gould, Chicago, 6-4, 6-2, while Kamrath easily defeated Eugene Quinn, another Chicagoan, 6-0, 6-2. Bruce Barnes and Doc Barr, another pair of Texans, also reached the quarter finals, as did Scott Rexinger, Big Ten singles champion.

football coaches while head mentor at the Army, has returned to the United States Military Academy as Assistant Graduate Manager of Athletics.

Jones came back to West Point yesterday following a year's leave of absence which he spent studying at the Field Artillery school at Fort Sill, Okla., and was named Assistant Manager of Athletics.

Jones, who coached Army eleven from 1926 to 1929, will succeed Fleming upon the expiration of the latter's contract next June.

Forest Hills, N. Y., July 9 (UP)—With only one of the seeded entrants eliminated in the opening day's play, the field remaining in the running for the 1931 national professional tennis championship was scheduled to complete third and fourth round matches today.

George Agutter, former coach of the United States Davis Cup team, was the lone seeded player to fall by the wayside yesterday. After advancing to the second round by default, Agutter was upset by Charles M. Wood of Elmsford, N. Y.

Vincent Richards, seeded No. 1 and present title holder, and William Tilden, seeded No. 2, the favorites to meet in the final contest, had little difficulty in surviving the opening play. Other stars who had trouble in advancing were Albert Burke of France, H. O. Kinsey of San Francisco, and Francis T. Hunter.

Toronto, Ont., July 9 (UP)—One of the most formidable international fields ever to compete in the annual Canadian open golf championship tournament began the first round play of 18 holes today.

George Von Elm, who lost the National Open title to Billy Burke after two gruelling 36-hole play-offs, ruled as a slight favorite as the 154 entrants began the first of the two qualifying rounds.

Other prominent United States golfers who entered the event are Tommy Armour, Horton Smith, Gene Sarzen, Walter Hagen, Al Watrous, Tony Manero, Johnny Farrell, Leo Diegel, MacDonald Smith, and Olin Dutra.

Members of the British Ryder Cup team are included in the field.

Chicago, July 9 (AP)—George O'Connell of Chicago, defending men's singles champion, faced his first real threat in the Illinois state tennis championships today. He was opposed in the quarter final round by Karl Kamrath, tall Texan.

O'Connell yesterday won his fourth round from S. F. Gould, Chicago, 6-4, 6-2, while Kamrath easily defeated Eugene Quinn, another Chicagoan, 6-0, 6-2. Bruce Barnes and Doc Barr, another pair of Texans, also reached the quarter finals, as did Scott Rexinger, Big Ten singles champion.

SPORT SLANTS

I asked Uncle Joe McCarthy for his angle on the American League pennant race, since the development more or less had relegated his New York Yankees to the position of innocent bystanders in the tussle between the Athletics and Senators.

Uncle Joe, who prefers the "Uncle" to "Marse," had high hopes of going somewhere himself in his first year in the circuit, until he suddenly discovered the Yankee pitchers collapsing in clusters around him.

Instead of taking their turn, they gave the impression of having called a meeting and decided to explode simultaneously, like a package of small firecrackers.

At any rate the Yanks at the close of June found themselves almost hopelessly distanced by the pace-setting pair, so Uncle Joe, when I encountered him in the lobby of a Cleveland hotel, was in a position to speak a bit freely.

"I can't say which of the two will win," replied McCarthy, "but I would expect the A's to repeat, barring events that we can't anticipate."

"If I were you I would not worry so much about that Athletic infield. Connie Mack is lucky to have several good combinations, to fill in the gaps."

"Washington has been hustling extraordinary pitching from such men as Fischer and Burke. Plenty of clubs turned down chances to take over Fischer but he has made good. A player like Joe Cronin lifts any team. But the Senators haven't the balance of power such as Cochran, Simmons, Grove and Earnshaw give to the A's."

"The experience of the Mack machine should be a deciding factor in the stretch. But I might be wrong. You can't tell about this game."

POSIES FOR BABE—
"The big fellow," said McCarthy changing the topic to Babe Ruth, "has certainly being going great."

"He has been a revelation to me at a time when a lot of ball players his age are all through or on the way out. He's liable to break up the game for us every day, just as he did this afternoon against Cleveland."

"Ruth hasn't the speed, any more. You know that and so does he, but he is still the greatest offensive player in baseball."

CLEVELAND WANTS MORE—Cleveland, with its great municipal stadium, will be in the bidding, if any, for the proposed September show designed to give Primo Carnera a chance to bounce off with heavyweight championship honors.

It might be risky to have the static lightning strike twice in the same spot within a few months but the Ohio city has manifested a keen fight-consciousness, going so far as to make a bid for Jack Dempsey's return to the ring.

"Old John" may listen to but he will never answer the gong's call to action again. The next big show will have to get along without him as a participant and probably even as a spectator.

Do You Remember

One Year Ago Today—In the $10,000 Championship Stallion stake at Cleveland, Hanover's Bertha trotted the first heat in 2:02, setting a new world's record for the mile for fillies and equalling the world's three-year-old record for the distance for either sex.

Five Years Ago Today—Miss Lillian Copeland, husky girl athlete of the Pasadena (Calif.) Athletic Club, sailed the discus 101 feet 1 inch and heaved the 8-pound shot 38 feet 1/2 inch to establish two new American records for women.

Ten Years Ago Today—One fan dropped dead as Bib Falk crossed the plate on Earl Sheely's single to give the White Sox a 10 to 9 victory over the Yankees in 16 innings.

An operation will save the lives of persons who have swallowed the deadly poison, bichloride of mercury.

DOHERTY SIDE OF "KANSAS UPROAR" OUTLINED BY HIM

The Utilities Magnate Says He'll Fight Kansas Order To Finish

(Editor's Note: Henry Doherty, picturesque head of the billion-dollar Cities Service Companies and their subsidiaries, Governor Harry Woodring of Kansas and the Kansas City Star, one of the most influential newspapers of the middle west, have become involved in a three-cornered battle over gas rates, sale of securities and state utility policies which bids fair to be one of the most determined of Doherty's history and perhaps one of the most bitter. The United Press has obtained from Mr. Doherty an expression of his side of the case, which is herewith presented.)

By SIDNEY B. WHIPPLE
United Press Staff Correspondent
(Copyright, 1931, By United Press)
Rye, N. Y., July 9.—(UP)—Henry L. Doherty, 61-year-old utilities magnate, wrapped his dressing gown around his frail form, as he sat, drinking in the sunshine atop the Westchester Country Club, and banged the table with a vigorous fist.

"They think I'm a sick man," he said. "I'll show them how sick I am. I'm in this fight to a finish, and when I get into a fight I never let go until it's over and I'm on top."

His keen eyes flashed and a ruddy glow came to his cheeks as he explained his side of "this uproar out in Kansas" in which his company, the Cities Service Company, Governor Harry Woodring of Kansas, and the Kansas City Star, have become involved. Plainly he was enjoying the scrap.

"Woodring is under the influence of the Star," he said. "The Star has been fighting for lower gas rates. There is a commission, as in many states, whose duty it is to hold hearings on the justice of utility rates. They held no hearings. We never were given a chance to present our reasons for our rates. And then, acting under the influence of Star, Woodring had his securities commission bar the sale of Cities Service securities."

"See how ridiculous it is!"—he chuckled—"on the one hand they say we're making too much money, and on the other they say our securities aren't safe for Kansas people to invest their money in! There's something wrong in their logic there."

Again his clenched fist descended to the table with a bang. "I've been in fights like this before," he continued, and his eyes seemed to twinkle with the remembrance of some of them. "And I've had to fight bear raids when I was lying on my back, with my wife holding the telephone receiver to my ear—and I've always won out. And now, that I'm cured (and they think I'm still sick!) I'm going to show them what fighting really is."

Doherty whose billion-dollar corporation reaches into every section of the country, furnishing gas, electricity, traction transportation and oil to scores of cities, insisted that none of his battles, against whatever interests, were of his own making. "There are two things in which I am greatly misunderstood," he said, "and sometimes it hurts. I have been represented as eccentric, which I am not, because I built the kind of a house I liked, down at the battery, in New York City. I did it for my health. And I have been held up as quarrelsome, which I am not. Every fight I have ever gone into has been forced on me, but once I was in it—"again the fist banged on the table."

Two Kinds of Papers
"There are two kinds of newspaper men," he continued. "I have fought many of them with no personal hatred or enmity at all, because I knew they were sincere in their beliefs, and because there was absolutely no commercialism mixed up in their campaigns. I have been pounded and bullied by men who today are my friends and for whom I have the utmost respect."

"But I have no respect for the other kind of newspaper or men who run it—the newspaper that uses such stuff as this as a club to hold their own domination over a community. There's nothing human about them. They have ice water in their veins."

"The Kansas City Star is not the Public Utilities Commission of Kansas. Certainly it has a right to suggest that lower rates would be in order but there is an orderly process of law by which such a matter can be determined—and that is not by budgeoning public officials into making unjust attacks on corporations."

With his still luxuriant silver-gray hair waving in the breeze, Doherty referred indignantly to what he declared were the "openly made plans, about which they boast," to throw his company into receivership.

"Loose talk," he said. "Why, if they did that, they would throw thousands of good people out of work, and God knows times are hard enough as it is. They're just doing that as a threat. But I'm in the position of the man who's walking alone, minding his own business, when a bully comes along and tries to push him off the sidewalk. And I'm simply not going to be pushed off the sidewalk by the Kansas City Star or anybody else."

MANY UNUSUAL FACTORS
Kansas City Mo., July 9.—(UP)—Three men who rose from modest beginnings to high position in widely different fields of endeavor are the central figures in what they say will be a "fight to the finish" over whether thousands of Kansas pay unreasonable rates for gas used in their homes.

Gas meters that tick off the cost of modern comfort from Kansas City westward through the state of Kansas play their tune at a cost of from 85 cents to $1 per thousand cubic feet to the consumer, a survey has showed.

These meters click to the profit of the Henry L. Doherty company, the Cities Service and multiple subsidiary companies.

In all phases of the process, the transactions are by some branch of the company built and nurtured into a billion dollar institution by the bearded, continental-mannered Henry L. Doherty who started as a newsboy.

Out in Topeka, Kan., one of the many towns that burn Henry L. Doherty's gas, is another man of Algerian rise. Harry Woodring began as an office boy in a bank and has been elected a Democratic Governor of Republican Kansas, the third man in 20 years to attain that distinction.

In an Italian renaissance building in Kansas City, is published a monument to another man who won distinction from a modest beginning. William R. Nelson, founder of the Kansas City Star, came here from Indiana with little experience, fought battles for the city in a tepestuous and highly successful career and left, when he died, a newspaper now published by his former employees.

Around these three elements, Doherty, Woodring and the Star, rages the question of whether City and Kansas gas rates are responsible or exorbitant.

The question might represent nothing more than another utility fight did it not involve unusual factors.

An investment of millions, a threat to throw this investment into receivership, an order to stop the sale of widely held Cities Service stock in Kansas, charges by Doherty that Woodring is waging a campaign of persecution and coercion, and is dominated by the "evil influence" of the Kansas City Star, decision by Doherty to sue the Star for damages, action by the Kansas Public Service Commission to investigate Doherty's costs of gas production, agreement on all sides that from now on "it's a fight to the finish."

Since early this year, the Star has told its readers day after day that the Doherty companies were gouging the public, that their prices were fixed when natural gas supply was scant, its cost of production and distribution high.

Now it is plentiful and cheap to produce, according to the Star, but Doherty has maintained wartime prices when all commodities have dropped to the lowest price levels in years. The campaign for lower rates has made less headway in Missouri, but in Kansas Governor Woodring acted determinedly, negotiated personally with Doherty and, his purpose unattained, began to fight.

The Star points out that in Oklahoma the consumer now pays a maximum of 50 cents for gas; it cites that Doherty companies sell gas for as little as 13 cents to large industrial users in this area, as contrasted with the dollar rate to domestic users.

The Doherty interests so far have made little effort to defend the rates. Until Doherty's telegram to Governor Woodring, their policy was largely one of silence.

The most advanced or progressive parts of the world are the regions of cyclonic storms. Two chief features of such regions are rainfall in moderate abundance at all seasons and weather subject to marked changes every few days.

Rev. A. E. Freeman, 1905 Warner Ave., Guthrie, Okla., well known and highly respected Minister of the Church of Christ, declares Gly-Cas is without an equal in reaching rheumatism, neuritis, stomach, liver, kidney, bowel, blood, nerve troubles. Read the following praising statement made recently to the Gly-Cas Man by Rev. Freeman:

"Gly-Cas freed me of years of suffering from stomach and bowel troubles. I was badly constipated, had an acid stomach, burned constantly, bloated, had an awful nervous, appetite gone, lost weight, but now Gly-Cas has regulated my whole system, rid me of that awful suffering and I am feeling myself again and able to work without fatigue. Gly-Cas relieved my wife of rheumatism and kidney trouble when all else failed, so we both join in praising Gly-Cas as the greatest of all."

Gly-Cas is sold by Schildberg's Pharmacy, 331 First St., Dixon, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

Kidney, bowel, blood, nerve troubles. Read the following praising statement made recently to the Gly-Cas Man by Rev. Freeman:

"Gly-Cas freed me of years of suffering from stomach and bowel troubles. I was badly constipated, had an acid stomach, burned constantly, bloated, had an awful nervous, appetite gone, lost weight, but now Gly-Cas has regulated my whole system, rid me of that awful suffering and I am feeling myself again and able to work without fatigue. Gly-Cas relieved my wife of rheumatism and kidney trouble when all else failed, so we both join in praising Gly-Cas as the greatest of all."

Gly-Cas is sold by Schildberg's Pharmacy, 331 First St., Dixon, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

POLICE RADIO AIDS CHICAGO IN CRIME WAR

Year Old System Declared
Outstanding Success
By Officials

Chicago —(UP)—Chicago's police radio, now one-year-old, is declared an outstanding success by police department and city officials.

"It is the most important improvement made in the police department during the last year," said acting Police Commissioner John H. Alcock in his annual report.

E. F. McDonald, Jr., who organized the technical committee which devised the police system, said: "I think it is the most important improvement in the last 25 years. The police have developed an arm of the law as swift as the gun and the automobile. Within the near future every city of more than 100,000 will be equipped with radios, but so far Chicago is far in the lead."

245 Police Flashes

An average of 245 police flashes are received daily by the 110 squad cars comprising the police fleet, according to William P. Hilliard, radio supervisor, who reported that during the last few months an average of 34 arrests daily are made as a direct result of the system. In many instances, his reports show, a squad car has only to be stopped in order to be at the spot where the radio reports a crime.

Hilliard announced that within the near future the three stations, north, south and west side, will be synchronized in order that one bulletin may be flashed simultaneously from all three.

Fireboats Equipped

In addition to the police radio, the three fire department fireboats were equipped with radios which kept them in touch constantly with the fire department through the police radio. Plans are being discussed for a separate fire department radio system.

Capt. Jon Anderson of the coast guard has asked Washington for permission to install radio equipment on life saving boats.

The idea of police radio had its inception in March, 1929, over a local station which halted its programs to announce crime warnings to the five first police cars which were radio equipped.
